

Translation with Editing

Translation with Editing

Showcase your ideas by translating papers to your vernacular language with the help of Pubrica's translators who will ensure your novel ideas are not lost in the process of translation. Our team 500+ certified translators are subject-matter experts who can translate your papers. Communicate your novel ideas with the help of precise translation in high-quality English and get ready to publish your papers. Our translators work on dissertations, cover pages, textbooks, proposals, artwork, videos, scientific and academic papers across various subjects. Publish your papers in top academic and scientific journals

Translation Quality Guarantee

During the translation phase, our certified translator with subject-knowledge expertise performs an accurate translation. In the editing phase, our professional language editor with deep subject knowledge and high language skills does the editing. To guarantee 100% quality, the translation and editing phases each have a peer-review process; our multilingual reviewer verifies the translated version before editing, and a senior level editor vets the editing copy before emailing you the final documents for publication. These multi-step phases apply to our translation services for non-academic papers as well.
